

Young patients design holiday cards

Patients at the Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside had the chance to show their creative side this holiday season.

For four years, the Westfield law firm of Lindabury, McCormick, Estabrook & Cooper, P.C., held a contest challenging the young patients to design the firm's holiday card. Nineteen children submitted drawings. Four drawings were selected to appear on the firm's holiday card, which was sent out to more than 5,000 clients.

Kirstin and Anthony Waldmann, ages 11 and 9, of Nutley, Tasia Baker, 20, of Newark and Stephanie Kirchoff, 17, of Bayonne, were presented with awards for their winning drawings.

"We love this program and are very fortunate that the hospital teams up with us year after year to make it happen," said Edward Frisch, a partner with the firm.
